ENDORSEMENTS

"Engedi Refuge's success rate is one of the highest in terms of recidivism...I have been impressed by the quality of program, the depth of genuine caring, the professional perspective and comprehensive service."

Becca C. Johnson, Ph.D.
Licensed Psychologist.

"Engedi Refuge has provided an array of professional and compassionate services to victims that allow them to escape this cycle of exploitation and violence as well as build new lives. I fully support their efforts."

Bill Elfo,
Whatcom County Sheriff .

"Engedi Refuge is an absolutely much needed service for these victims...I highly recommend the Engedi Refuge to any service providers looking for a safe, effective treatment service for victims... I feel blessed to have this service and know that the women they serve feel blessed as well."

Noel Gomes,
Organization for Prostitution Survivors,
(OPS).

Sex Trafficking effects and enslaves hundreds of thousands in the U.S. every year. Reportedly, 92% of prostituted women want out of "the life" but lack a safe place to heal. We are here to give them that place.

Engedi Refuge is a safe place for adult women to recover from the devastating effects of sexual exploitation. Engedi exists to provide restoration, hope, and support to those struggling to overcome such things as poverty, addiction, depression, and complex trauma often associated with a life of prostitution and sex trafficking. The restorative process of our residents is served through safe housing, trauma-focused curriculum, and a supportive atmosphere of empowerment and dignity. Engedi's program is faith-inspired and holistic in nature, designed to care for each resident physically, spiritually, emotionally, and socially as they work towards sustainable independence and sobriety.

Engedi is among the most comprehensive and successful recovery programs of its kind in the United States.
